Chairman's Corner—Dean Hill

I'm still on the Band Wagon for donations for our Law Enforcement Appreciation ceremony. Since we've added another agency, it's more important than ever to make sure we get those pledges in to cover the Gift Certificates for the recipients. So far I've got 'tentatives' from the Peppermill, Silver Legacy, OptiComp

Corp, and NV Uniforms. We're almost halfway there already!

Alan Zajic won the Chapter Complimentary entry to the Seminar and Exhibits in Dallas. Congratulations!! It is certainly well-deserved!

Chapter 164 Member Profiles

Your fellow ASIS members would like to know more about you. Please tell us a little about yourself for inclusion in the monthly newsletter. We would like a photo or two - such as a professional bust shot and a more relaxed "action" shot of a personal or professional interest. Educational and certification history, Past and current professional experiences, Brief synopses of your personal life and interests.

It should be a half page to a page and a half, kind of a short bio about what makes you different and interesting both personally and professionally, but also showcasing any special talents you or your business may have that you want to share with other members.

This is your turn to showcase yourself. We look forward to hearing from you!

Chairman's Corner—Dean Hill

We have also sent out emails from Jay Martin, our Foundation and Scholarship Committee Chairman for additional awards that are available. The deadline for the Timothy J. Walsh Award is almost upon us. Send your application to Jay immediately if you are interested in this award! Jay is also working on our annual scholarships, so watch for info coming out soon!

This meeting is our annual election meeting. If you haven't considered it before, please give some serious thought before the meeting to throwing your name in the hat for a position on the Board for 2011. As I have mentioned before, I plan to take a break from the Board this next year, as I've been heavily involved for the past several years! We've got a great team right now, and this chapter has always set the bar very high when compared with the other chapters in our Region, as well as other chapters in our membership range!

As Doug has already announced, there are plans to hold Chapter Officer Training sessions between October and the end of the year, so everyone will have the chance to participate and learn about the process. Even if you aren't considering becoming a Chapter Officer, I highly recommend this training, as it can be very helpful in understanding what the responsibilities of the various positions include.

Thank you for your continued support, and I look forward to seeing you at the next meeting!

porting a crime, stalking, strangulation, and violations of protective orders. The units goals include follow up on family related crimes including locating and tracing suspects and following up on warrants. They interview people involved in the case as either the victim or the suspect and help connect the victims with the service the victim may need. The unit processes the crime scenes and works with the prosecutors to prosecute the cases.

Detective Miller presented local facts and statistics from 2007, 2008, and 2009 for the types of crimes that are being committed. Some interesting trends were noticed, such as a decline in over all instances of domestic crimes with women as the victim or arrestee, and with the male as the arrestee, but a rise in the number of male victims. This trend can be due to several factors including a culture that is starting to recognize males can be victimized by both men and women. Detective Miller provided many examples of the aspects of power and control that are typically associated with the variations of domestic violence as well as some of the many reasons the victims—men and women—use to justify staying with or not reporting their abuser. Many don't recognize that the abuse is likely to escalate. The presentation showed the escalation from pushing to punching, from punching to slapping, then kicking, throwing objects. Then to strangling and on to use of weapons and sexual and aggravated assault, ultimately ending in death. Not all cases end or progress the same way, but the trends are apparent.

Some victims think it is best for their children if they stay, or simply do not have the resources to take care of themselves and/or their children and don't realize that assistance is available both financially and for the physical and emotional damage as shown in the excerpts from Detective Miller's presentation.

Dean Hill introduced and announced guest speaker Oliver Miller, Detective RPD/ Investigating Domestic Violence Crimes which is most common now and one in every four women will experience domestic violence in her lifetime.

Domestic violence victims will often blame their own behavior, rather than the violent actions of the abuser. Victims may try continually to alter their behavior and circumstances in order to please the abuser-believing that if they follow certain rules and make sure the abuser is happy-they will not be hurt. However, violence perpetrated by abusers is often self-driven and depends little on victims' actions or words.

The meeting was concluded at 13:20
